PEPPERMILL Case C 1 & C 1 with O'FELLER & O'CASTELL 15 March 1965

When O'CASTELL came in, we discussed shortly the Peppermill case. KASTELL this time made no pretense that the meeting had taken place the week of the 8th of March. He spoke of it as in the future. He also had obviously seen the local since he described it to us as a very high-class restaurant, one in which there would not be the likelihood of a great clatter of dishes and flatware. He also described the place as cut in the open with not a place to hide a surveillance team within 500 yards. CATIDE plans to photograph the opposition personnel with a long-range telephoto lens at a distance of about 500 yards. It became evident that KUTZBACH is to be in charge of the case and take along Miss O'DARIUS' fiancee who works in KUTZBACH's office.
